Anglican In Rome

ROME (AP) - The Arch bishop of Canterbury, who left London amid cries of 'traitor," was cheered today on his arrival here for a Christianity unity meeting with Pope Paul.

Dr. Michael Ramsey arrived by plane on the first official visit by a head of the Anglican Church to the Vatican since the schism of 1534.

The archbishop and the Pope will discuss Christian unity in a meeting Wednesday at the Vat-ican and on the following day will pray together and exchange an embrace of peace.

Dr. Ramsey said he came to "happy and cheerful and full of hope.

The London demonstrators four clergymen and a Belfast city councillor — boarded the plane in London with the archbishop to carry their protest to Rome. They had led a demon-stration against the visit outside the archbishop's Lambeth Palace last Friday.

CHEERED ON ARRIVAL

Applause and cheers greeted Dr. Ramsey as he arrived in the spring warmth and sunshine at Rome's Fiumicino Airport. Pope Paul sent two envoys to greet him—Archbishop Angelo Dell'Acqua, substitute Vatican secretary of state, and Bishop secretary of state, and Bisnop Jan J. Willebrands, secretary of the Vatican's secretariat for Christian unity.

Among the crowd gathered on the tarmac as the purple-clad archbishop stepped off the plane here were Sir John Guthrie Ward, Britain's ambassador to Italy, and Michael Williams, British minister to the Holy See.

Man"- former Chancellor political office at the age of 90. And in his final act of relinquishing the Christian Democratic Party chairmanship, he astonished his audience of government officials by strongly advocating a new approach to Soviet Russia which, he said, "has joined the ranks of those who wish peace."

Dr. Adenauer, who had done much to bring France and West. Germany into closer co-operation, again urged the two nations together to adopt a foreign policy independent of the rest of the West and of the East. Europe's future security, says Dr. Adenauer, depends on uniting in a foreign policy that will protect its members against pulverization between the two great powers: Russia and the United States.

This doctrine, of course, is in startling contrast to that of Chancellor Erhard and the government which succeeded Dr. Adenauer in power. Bonn has so far refused to follow Paris in its rejection of NATO and other close contacts with the United States and Western European countries. And a strong defence against Russia is still a basic tenet of West German policy.

Dr. Adenauer's declaration, howweek's surprising proposal from WEST GERMANY'S "OLD Russia to sign a non-aggression pact with France, Clearly, there Konrad Adenauer-has left his last are promising new forces stirring in Europe today which have not been in evidence for more than twenty years.

There can be little doubt that the Soviet threat of European land invasion is not what it was when NATO was formed nearly two decades ago. But for government ministers such a belief is not enough. As West German Foreign Minister Schroeder pointed out last week in rejecting General de Gaulle's opinion that the Russian danger has receded, most of Russia's vast military power is in the west, facing Germany. West Germany's defence policy, he said, must be based not on what may appear to be a potential enemy's intentions, but on the military power available to him.

Both statements were made, of course, in a world that has gone far beyond the old question of "how many divisions has he?" to considerations of nuclear retaliation. Armies massed on a frontier today may be restrained, not by troops deployed in front of them, but by nuclear launching silos half a world away.

Thus Adenauer and Erhard both have elements of truth in their stands. The significance for West Germany at the moment, however, lies in the fact that Adeever, was in harmony with last nauer is leaving and Erhard is there.

moderation seems to be stirring the local university scene. The argument of generations of students dealt with the proposition that if the individual were truly to espouse moderation in everything then he must logically permit a certain moderation in his moderation: in other words, he should be extreme now and then in order not to lay himself open to the accusation that he was immoderately moderate.

So went the wrangle, anyway, as students flexed their cerebral muscles. Now a version of that concept may be seen in the current controversy at Gordon Head as to whether too ardent a championship of intellectual freedom may defeat itself by denying freedom; whether the plunging advocate of liberty of thought may himself be stifling liberty by denying others the right to be conservative and orthodox.

The mental gymnastics are not confined to the student body. The university faculty includes a number of newcomers to the local scene

 $A^{\rm N}$ ECHO OF THE OLD COL- who are fresh from environments in which the intellectual ferment is steaming. They add a stimulating and educationally necessary element to the Gordon Head potpourri. But surely it is not reactionary to point out that revolt is not everything—that it is needful also to know what it is that is being rejected, and that this entails study of what has gone before and what is here now.

While it is a function of the university to stimulate thought and enquiry, to stir doubts and encourage intellectual adventure, it is also a function of the classroom to instruct students in the vast fund of knowledge that has been painfully amassed through the ages. Such knowledge, and the opinions for which it is the foundation, can best be explored and understood with a certain sympathy of approach. They cannot be mastered through a prejudiced and antagonistic treatment. Rejection, if there is to be rejection, should follow perception, not precede it. And university lecturing can itself be a learning process.

MEXICO REVISITED

exception of the second second

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Monument to U.S. Restraint

DURING the past fortnight I have been in Mexico, which I last saw hearly forty years ago. At that time the Mexican revolution had been under way for some 15 years. The United way for some 15 years. The United States had invaded Mexico twice, once by sea at Vera Cruz to avenge an insult to the flag and once by land in a punitive expedition commanded by General Pershing. was in pursuit of the guerrilla fighter Pancho Villa, who was indistinguishable from a bandit, had raided Columbus, New Mexico, and had killed a score of Americans.

Lippmann

In the twenties there was a mount-ing agitation in the United States to occupy Mexico and suppress the revolu-It was a bloody revolution, replete with atrocities, ambushes, guerrilla raids, kidnappings, executions, looting, burning, the rape of nuns and the sacrilegious destruction of churches. The revolution was a class war against the landlords, Mexican and foreign, and there was expropriation of foreign enterprise and of oil and mineral concessions. Moreover, during the First World War, the Mexican revolution sided with Germany, and was accused of conspiring with the Kaiser's government to regain the American southwest in the event of a German victory.

Provocation to Intervene

The provocation to the United States to intervene was very great, and very powerful business interests and church interests were demanding intervention. Vet except for the two short-lived epi sodes at Vera Cruz and under General Pershing, the United States government held its hand and did not involve itself in the task of occupying and governing Mexico, an operation which at the time was said to call for half a million men. In 1916 the intervention was made possible by our involvement in the European war. But by the middle twenties hands were free and large masses of trained veterans were available,

The president at this critical time was Calvin Coolidge, a man who had no pretentions to greatness but who had the great virtue of humility-and was lucky. He was particularly lucky in having as his closest adviser Dwight Morrow, an old friend from Amherst College, a lawyer, a profound student of English political history, and a partner in the firm of J. P. Morgan and Company. Dwight Morrow persuaded Coolidge that the right course was to avoid intervention and to negotiate a settlement with the Mexican revolution. The president sent Morrow to Mexico City as his ambassato visit him in Mexico City, and for a while I watched him negotiating the oil and mineral and land problems with the revolutionary president, General Plutarco Calles, and on the side—with an assist from the Vatican—mediating the conflict between the revolution and the Catholic church. To make a gesture of good will to the Mexican government. Morrow persuaded Lindberg-for whom at the time he was acting as a finan-cial adviser—to fly his plane to Mexico City. He did not anticipate that after the visit Lindberg would marry his

Revisiting Mexico last week, I could not help seeing it as a monument to the wisdom and restraint of a great power which resisted all manner of provocation and temptation. The settlement which Coolidge and Morrow made with the Mexican revolution has paid handsome dividends, and the country which was racked with violence and disorder is today a remarkable example of stability and enterprise which are generating Mexico's own economic development,

Revolutionary Heritage

The party which governs Mexico tocends directly from the revolutionary leaders, from Madero, Carranza, Obregon and Calles, and, so far as one can see there is now internal peace. The Mexican peso has been stable for twelve years, and it is now, or is very close to being, one of the hard currencies of the non-Communist world. While Mexico still has a long way to go before it conquers the universally difficult problem of rural poverty, its industrial development is spectacular.

The biggest dividend of all is that we have for a neighbor a strong country which is at once independent and yet our friend. This may come to have great significance in Middle America in the Caribbean region from the Texas border to Panama. For the existence of a Latin country of the stature and caliber of Mexico opens up the prospect of a regional understanding and organization in what-as would be apparent if there were a military intrusion by a nona sphere of vital United States interest.

An Eye on Cuba

Some Mexicans think that the time not be too far off when all this will begin to show in the relations between Cuba and the rest of middle America. Mexico, as we know, has never broken relations with Cuba, and there is an operating airline between Mexico City and Havana. The Mexicans regulate the traffic strictly but it is kept open for official intercourse. Mexicans say that they are maintaining a "bridge," and they say further that there are accumulating signs that Castro, whose regime is working so badly, is beginning to act like a desperate man. If only, say the Mexicans, he were deprived of the support which comes from being surrounded by enemies, if only he had to face his own people directly, we would probably find that the Cubans are tiring of him. So, the Mexicans say, we are keeping open the bridge, and we hope you understand

Budget and Price Surge

is asked almost every day whether or not he has received representations from this or that delegation, earnest consideration to some matter about which constituents are vocal and when he intends to come before the House with the government's an-

Western nual financial statement. This curios will be further whetted by the latest report on the consumer price index from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The two most noteworthy points in this release are that prices rose by .6 per cent in January and that the present level is 3.6 per cent above that of February

Cause for Concern

One naturally expects price pressure in the period before Christmas because of the concentration of consumer demand in a relatively few weeks. But January, for obvious reasons, usually sees a flagging demand. A one-month surge of 6 per cent is therefore a matter of some concern.

The consumer price index is weighted; The consumer price index is weighted, that is to say it attaches more importance to certain items than to others. There is no way of escaping housing and food costs and these two items accordingly account for 55 per cent of the index. It is evident that much of the decrease of family hydrets has been occadamage to family budgets has been occa-sioned by an advance in food prices (1.9 cent) attributable largely to fats, including butter, meats, including fish and poultry and vegetables.

No doubt some part of this is attributable to seasonal factors. But housing (shelter and household operation) is up .2 points; elothing up .6, transportation up .9. Indeed, the impressive fact is that the price surge has been on a wide front and appears to be gaining

By MAURICE WESTERN

Some advances are to be expected some advances are to be appeared and it is the view of the Economic Council of Canada that we can stand increases averaging 2 per cent per year without risk to our national objectives for 1970. But an annual increase of 3.6 per cent is far beyond what the council siderable tolerable

Gordonian Calm

At this time last year Mr. Gordon, then preparing his budget, treated inflation with philosophic calm. As there was still some slack in the economy (there always is somewhere) he did not feel it his duty to introduce an anti-inflationary budget but instead devised a policy which assumed a price advance of 2 per cent. The results are now appar-

It is evident from the DBS figures that such a course today would be thoroughly irresponsible. Mr. Sharp is, of course, getting the usual advice from members who feel that the government should spend more, at least in their constituencies, while taxing less and avoid-ing inflation by means unexplained. But the price movement appears to be accelerating despite the fact that the government now recognizes an inflationary threat and has taken some steps (notably the postponement of certain works projects) in an effort to check it.

Not Comparable

Thus the situation is not comparable to the one which Mr. Gordon faced, or imagined he faced, a year ago. There cannot be much of a case now for a let's-live-with-inflation budget.

Mr. Sharp's first full-dress presentation, already the subject of much specu-lation on Parliament Hill, will be awaited with even keener interest in the light of the latest DBS despatches from the price

The Four-Letter Words

With reference to the article of Alan Mackenzie, March 12, it escapes me as to how a man who is studying for his PhD and who has travelled can be so baffled over a few profane "four-letter

A great many quite ordinary people who know the meanings and the uses of these words also know, from experience, the meanings of the words "Bomb" and "War". They know, too that both groups of words can mean "carnage and destruction." Mackenzie suffers from a certain myopia in thinking one is less tragic than the other. All he is doing is substituting one type of "carnage and 'de-struction" for another. He is speaking mainly to a young crowd who are looking to him for wis-dom and guidance. However, the Cardins and the J. Edgar Hoovers of every country will tell those young inquisitive ninds that Mackenzie's public display, of such profanity, while recognizing right of universities to question, is the type of thing that ruins nations from the inside making them ugly on the outside.—H. Tupper, 3875 Rowland,

And Rescued Canada

In a letter appearing in the Times of March 18, "Old Timer" asks if the United States has forgotten how slow they were to become engaged in the last two wars.

I cannot say, but I would like to remind "Old Timer" of the benefits be-stowed on the free world by the United States, as put forth by Mr. Bruce Hutch-

Mr. Hutchison says they are "a people who twice saved Europe from conest, who rebuilt it at huge cost, who lately helped rescue Britain and Canada from bankruptcy, who poured their treasure into poor lands all over the globe, who now stand between millions of human beings and early starvation, whose sons are dying in the jungles of Asia for a cause which they consider just."--"Gratitude."

Only Dief . .

Why all the clamor for Mr. Pearson's resignation? Who is there among the faction as leader? There are one or tw aspirants for the leadership who would be even more objectionable, with perhaps different, but with equally as great greater defects. What possessed the people of Canada to vote in the Liberal party in 1963 with its weird and wicked policies; nuclear arms on Canadian soil, etc., and reject the Diefenbaker government which had broken the Liberal stranglehold of, 22 years?

All those responsible for rejecting the Diefenbaker government in 1963 (Con-servatives, Socreds and NDPs), when they had it in their power to retain it, have suffered for it since.—Mrs. L.

No Cocoon for Victoria

Douglas-Hillside in "Round-a-bout" has suggested, apropos the current Iain Baxter plastics exhibition at the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria, that the gallery may be pulling the public's leg and that when hanging "far out" shows it would be a good idea to include one of the artists' works which show they have mastered the traditional disciplines and skills of the more academic kind.

This is a good idea and in fact the gallery has sometimes done so. But since in the present show a landscape or a still life would be somewhat incongruous we should perhaps furnish docuntary evidence of Professor Baxter's ability.

Iain Baxter's training has been thorough one in the art departments of the universities of Idaho and Washington State. His work has been bought by the National Gallery, the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts, and the universities of Saskatchewan and Washington State.

He has just completed an exhibition at the University of B.C. He is currently having another at the Vancouver Art Gallery. Another is being planned for Regina's chief public gallery and major private galleries in Toronto and Los Angeles are following suit. Previously he had shown at the Commonwealth Institute in London, in the United States, and in Japan.

This young man of 29 has obviously one far in a short time and is being taken seriously.

His kind of show has been familiar to gallery goers in the world's major centres for some five or six years and war art movements. It is my firm be-lief that no public gallery has the right to screen its public from what is being accorded serious recogintion by a large section of the world's leading artists and critics. Victoria cannot be kept in a co coon while the rest of the world debates the validity of this kind of thing,

It has been refreshing to find that while many have missed the point of this show others, whether recognizing its fundamental seriousness or not, have found its freshness, gaiety and wit great fun. Colin Graham, director, Art Gallery of Greater Victoria.

De Gaulle's Visit to Moscow: Its Implications for the West

The Washington Post

"Perhaps it would be possible to renew the old Franco-Russian solidarity which, though repeatedly betrayed and repudiated, remained no less a part of the natural order of things, as much in relation to the German menace as to the endeavors of Anglo-American hegemony . . . the signing of a Franco Russian treaty could help us to participate at once in the elaboration of the European settlements.'

Thus, in his memoirs, did General Charles de Gaulle describe his thought in late 1944 as he was about to fly to loscow. Three months from today the general will embark on a new mission to Moscow. And many in the United States and Europe believe that he is thinking similar thoughts today — and that that is why he is now moving to loosen if not dissolve the ties which bind France to the 14 other member nations of the North Atlantic Treay

The long-heralded crisis in NATO is indeed now confront-ing its members. But far mone is involved than the complex of bilateral and multilateral agreements on troops, bases and airfields which the French president is determined to alter. What is being called into question is the future shape of Europe, not just of Western Europe but of all Europe, in the general's phrase, "from the

Three Points Fundamental

His memoirs on his 1944 trip point to three fundamentals in his current thinking: determination to revive (hence his acquisition of neclear weapons), his worry about a resurgent West Germany and its desire for reunification with the 17 million Germans now under Communist rule in East Germany, and his continuing suspicion of and antipathy toward what he calls "les Anglo-Saxons," Britain and the United States.

Add to this de Gaulle's 19th century view of the nation-state and the balance of wer and one can more easily visualize his seekin revival of that 1944 Franco-Soviet agreement, both as a balance to Germany on the one hand, and to Britain and America on the other. It matters not that Moscow abrogated that agreement in 1955 because the Western nations agreed to German rearmament

From Washington's point of view, and in varying degrees view of the other 13 NATO captials, de Gaulle is oving to tear apart the lantic world's economic, political and military fabric so carefully constructed in the post-Second World War years, thereby endangering the West in the face of continuing oviet hostility and Commu-

Not Moving Without Support

Yet the aging and determined French president is not moving without support either in his own nation or elsewhere n Europe, or even in the United States. Some see his demands upon NATO as useful in forcing the 17-year-old organization to a needed re-examination of its forms and Others believe de Gaulle's vision is fundamentally cor-rect, that he is only attempting to lead the Western world to a new relationship with a Soviet Union and Eastern Europe vastly changed since Stalin's death 13 years ago.

Too many tend to look upon Gaulle as no more than an old, willful gentleman trying to act like Louis XIV. It must be conceded that his policy plays upon beliefs shared by many in France and elsewhere in Western Europe.

First, the United States far too long after Europe's recovery-continued a "pappa knows best' attitude. Often this was more in Washington's tone n in its action but nonetheless, it has been galling.

American Might Overwhelming

Second, many in Western Europe are alarmed by what is called American "economic imperialism": The overwhelming American economic might, the vast inflow of American capital and the spinoff benefits of America's space and nuclear science.

Thin, there is a widespread feeling in Western Europe that de Gaulle is right in saying the danger of war with the Soviet Union has vastly nished but that the United Stales has been tardy in recognizing this and acting on it. To many, the U.S. has not enough to bridge the gulf between Eastern and Western Europe, despite the announced Johnson intention of "build-

many agree with de Gaulle that the U.S. would hesitate to come to Western Europe's aid if the Soviets did attack. Many disbelieve, despite repeated American assurances, that the U.S. would risk its cities to Soviet missiles to de fend European cities. Yet no non - Communist Europeans, not even de Gaulle, want American troops pulled out.

Europe's Interests Not the Same

Fifth, some agree with de Gaulle that American interests in other parts of the world, now notable in Asia, are contrary to Western it is reasoned that, as de Gaulle has said, "While the prospects of a world war breaking out on account of Europe are dissipating, conflicts in which America engages in other parts of the world (he cited Korea, Cuba, Viet Nam) risk, by virtue of that famous escalation being extended so that the result could be a general conflagra-

De Gaulle has played it both ways with the West Germans. He first sought reconciliation. But as the West Germans refused to accept him, in effect, as their leader on the continent, he began to make disparaging remarks in private which soon became public. His treatment of the Germans as a permanent second or third class nation has brought division in the Bonn government and alarm in Washington.

Today there is a new worry in many NATO nations about West Germany, worry that de Gaulle's policies are reawakening German national-ism, opening the door to a separate German army and even to a revival of the German general staff with nuclear weapons at its command some day.

War Memories Not Forgotten

It is true, of course, that West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard has said that any form of NATO under which a national army and a general staff would be revived would be "unthinkable" and German leaders say they do not want nuclear weapons of their own. War memories have not been forgotten, however, and suspicions of just such German desires are often heard in Western Europe and in the United

Washington Post special writer Robert Kaiser reports from London the British gov ernment's view that most mischievous single aspect of gaullism" is what it is doing to "encourage nation nationalism, in Germany.'

From Bonn, Washington Post correspondent Anatole Shub reports that the "main thrust of the so-called new nationalism thus far has been rather positive, i.e., a reexamination of cold war cliches, consideration of the Oder-Neisse boundary be-tween (East) Germany and Poland and consideration of the status of East Germany.'

Policies Could Create a Desire

Washington officials discount any immediate German desire for direct nuclear weapons control but they argue that de Gaulle's policies can create a desire. Above all, Washington, like London, believes that the great danger is that de Gaulle by his attack on NATO, will loosen the ties which bind West Germany within the Western alliance. No German ally wants an independent West Germany with its own nuclear weapons or even an independent nonnuclear army.
The West Germans, naturally enough, worry about a "deal" over their heads. They worried that President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev would carry their post-Cuba detente too far and at German expense. Now

Famous Last Words

The immortal last words of this Protestant martyr were said to a fellow bishop as they were set afire at the stake:

West German Chancellor Erhard and French President de Gaulle were outwardly friendly in their meeting at Paris last month. But de Gaulle's increasingly frequent and open treatment of West Germany as a third-rate power, as well as his overtures to Soviet Russia for a revival of the Franco-Soviet agreement, are severely straining the Franco-German friendship pact.

Bonn worries about a de Gaulle "deal" with Premier Kosygin this June. Shub reports from Bonn that a new Franco-Soviet entente is "the greatest Ger-man fear" and that a pact between the two nations "would have an enormous, incalculable effect" in West

'Clean Hands' For Moscow?

Yet no one knows whether anything will be signed — French diplomats deny any such intention on de Gaulle's part. A Soviet-French nonaggression treaty has been widely rumored and de Gaulle's disengagement from NATO committments is widely read as preparation to go to Moscow with relatively "clean hands" for such an Part of the worry here relates to any form of bolstering the East German regime (though France has rejected East Germany's recent application for United Nations membership). De Gaulle promised Erhard during his recent visit to Paris to take up in Moscow the question of German reunification but that could lead to talk of further restraints on West Germany. On reunification, however, it is hard to visualize what de Gaulle and the Soviets might do in concrete terms. Furthermore, it is evident that de Gaulle, like most other nor Germans in Europe, really dreads German reunification.

It also is worth looking at the de Gaulle visit and his NATO activities from the Soviet point of view, Moscow is always ready to seize a target of opportunity and few doubt that its long range goal has always encompassed the removal of American power and influence from Europe, luding American forces in NATO.

De Gaulle's stance thus may offer a target of opportunity along that route. But there must be serious doubts today among the Kremlin leaders as to how far it would be sensible, indeed safe, to

After all, the Soviet Union today is facing an increasingly hostile Communist China along its immensely long Far Eastern border. Such increas instability in the East would seem to require, in Russia's national self-interest, a continuation of the stability now enjoys along its ropean frontier, a stability in which NATO plays a major and indeed crucial role.

Johnson Firm But Polite

In the face of this situation, a series of high level policy talks with his own advisers and an exchange of views with other NATO nations. He is being firm but polite toward de Gaulle, whose stance he privately deplores.

The West now faces long months of internal argument and decision — and probably indecision, too, Perhaps not until de Gaulle completes his second mission to Moscow will the other allies be able to see how far his daring will have taken him, and thus how to concert a policy in response to

Keeping Canadian Capital at Home

(Statement by Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp in the st week as recorded in Hansard.)

Mr. Speaker, when the U.S. today to Canadian investors balance of payments guide-lines were being discussed in this House on Feb. 2, I said that it would be most un-desirable if the effect of these guidelines was to induce strong new demands upon capital markets in Canada. I sary we would take whatever action is appropriate to pro-tect Canadian interests.

Prior to our meeting with U.S. secretaries in Washington it seemed clear that pressures on our capital markets were being accentuated as an indirect result of the U.S. guidelines, and we discussed this with them.

Under the guidelines, U.S. companies are being encouraged to raise funds abroad for their international operations. In response to this, well-known U.S. companies and their foreign sub-sidiaries are issuing dollar securities for sale outside the To the extent that this search for funds abroad by U.S. companies attracts funds from Canada, it puts abnormal pressure on the Cana-dian market and could force Canadian borrowers to rely more heavily on the U.S. capital market.

Savings Policy

It has been and continues to be the policy of the government to encourage Canadians to invest their savings in Canadian development, We are now entering our sixth consecutive year of significant economic growth. Heavy demands are being made on our capital markets as Canadian industry expands its capacity and improves its efficiency and as Canadian governments and municipali-ties undertake to provide the many services required by our expanding economy. To meet this situation I am, on behalf of the government, tinue to assist u making the following request out this policy.

To help ensure that Canadian savings are available to meet the present large demands for capital in Canada the Government is asking all Canadian investors, including the banks, life insurance companies, and trust and loan companies, as well as other corporations, pension funds and individuals, not to acquire securities, denominated in Ca-nadian or U.S. dollars, which are issued by U.S. corpora-tions or their non-Canadian subsidiaries and which are subject to the U.S. interest equalization tax if purchased by U.S. residents.

ties made by Canadian financial institutions and pension funds to cover foreign currency liabilities to non-residents of Canada and the United States are exempt from this request. Canadian borrowers have co-operated with the Govern-ment's requests in the past for the exercise of some temporary restraint in borrowing abroad in the national interest. I feel certain that Canadian investors on their side will co-operate fully with this request which is also in the national interest.

For some time the Bank of Canada and the Department of Finance have, in answer to inquiries, been discouraging the issue of securities in Canada by foreign borrowers. I feel that we should continue savings in this way could bring increased pressures on our capital market and lead to increased borrowings in the United States by Canadians under the exemption from the interest equalization tax.

Indonesia A Victory For West

By WILLIAM R. FRYE Times UN Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS - The full story of the extraordin upheaval which has taken place in Indonesia in the past few months may never told. Enough, however, known to make of it one the most fascinating tales of intrigue in modern history

Some time in mid or late summer, 1965, a group of army generals gathered in great secrecy in or near Jakarta to weigh the country's alarming drift toward nunism.

Whether they were planning to seize power is not clear. What is certain is that leaders of the then-massive Communist Party believed they were. Inferring that the CIA and British intelligence were in-volved — an inference which could well have been accurate — they resolved to act first. They then attempted the coup of Sept. 30-Oct. 1, brutally slaying six key generals. Lt. Gen. Suharto, one of their principal targets, was sitting up with a sick child at a hospital; they did not find him. Gen. Abdul Haris Nasution, the defence minister, escaped in his pyjamas.

Rallied Force

Together, Nasution and Suharto rallied the necessary to thwart the coup. There followed a staggering odbath in which at least 87,000 Communists killed, perhaps twice that number. The army's indignation at the six initial murders combined with anti-Chinese feeling and popular fury at Communism to produce the slaughter. President Sukarno, who long had presided over conflicting forces, now was unable to control them. Fighting for his political life, and knowing no formula other than balanceand-rule, he sought to save the Communists from extinc-tion and restore them as a counterweight to the army. Tens of thousands o

Chinese arms were smuggled into central Java to party operatives, quite possibly with Sukarno's knowledge. For a time, civil war - on a small scale - raged.

The struggle also took the form of political maneuvering and mob manipulation in the capital. By Feb. 21, Sukarno felt strong enough to dismiss Nasution and appoint 14 new left-wing cabinet members.

He seemed to be emerging victor. But the army had not thrown in the towel.

On March 11, anti-comm nist students, protected and led by the army, were set to stage a series of mammoth demonstrations. The plan called for invading and sacking government offices and even for assassinating certain cabinet ministers. Communist mobs were also reported ready for action including, according to some information, murder of Westcorrespondents in the forces set out to surround the presidential palace. Someone slipped a note to Sukarno in the midst of a cabinet meeting.

Jumping up, not even taking time to put on his shoes — he time to put on his shoes — he had kicked them off, under the table — the president and two left-wing aides fled to a waiting helicopter and were airlifted to Sukarno's weekend palace at Bogor.

But the Bogor palace, too. was under army control, and Sukarno was licked. He argued for about 12 hours, and then finally, late Friday night or early Saturday morning, signed over effective power to Suharto.

Those last 12 hours, the climax of a tempestuous climax of a tempestuous career, must have been explosive. Sukarno is not a man to accept humiliation in good cards. Moreover, he was willing to help the president back down gracefully, saving face. When Sukarno has face, he has all.

Unifying Force It may be useful for some time to perpetuate the fiction that Sukarno is the real centre of power. The "Great Leader of the Revolution" is — or can be — a unifying force in an otherwise fatally fragmented nation. He has a profound hold on many But the policy which Su-karno represented is almost certainly dead. In topsy-turvy Indonesia, anything can hap-pen, but the most likely net result of events of recent months is (a) westward-leanto discourage such issues months is (a) westward-lean-since, the use of Canadian ing neutralism; (b) massive American aid to rescue the country's near-bankrupt economy; (c) a withering away in fact, if not in word the "confrontation" with Malaysia; (d) a bid by Indonesia to return to the UN As in Ghana, Kenya, and elsewhere, the West has won a notable victory. The task ahead will be to protect it.

Swedes Deeply Concerned ... About Everyone Else

more engaging facets of Swedish life is the deep concern of the Swedes for moral questions beyond their borders, although they are but seven million strong, and their country is small and without much influence in the world. The are well led by their intellectuals — too well led, say some. A Stockholm jouralist recently wrote that it is now 'in' to be radical -and everybody thinks like everybody else."

The Same Bone

Certainly the Swedish intellectuals give the impression of dogs always chasing the same bone, and the everyday conversation which results from their activities tends to acquire a conventional color. A little while ago, South Africa's apartheid was the target of communal wrath. News paper leader-writers, magazine columnists, television personalities, united in well-expressed and forceful condemnation of Dr. Ver-woerd, prime minister of South Africa, and all his

The public followed suit. It was bad manners not mention South Africa in conversation, and the host would be almost sure to suspect a guest of fascist tendencies if he did not add his little bit to the obligatory sorrowing over apartheid that was conveni-ently arranged between dessert and coffee, But that is all past now, and policy, almost to a man. Liberal newspapers publish frequent and critical leaders - particularly Dagens Nyheter, the biggest Swedish daily.

Viet Nam is the proper topic of well informed talk. The intellectuals are against U.S.

By ROLAND HUNTFORD

The Americans are generally accused of more or less sadistic cruelty towards the local population, and the Viet Cong are considered an innocent, well-meaning organization for social reform, without ties with the Communists as a political force or with China as a country. Arguments about Great Power interests or the neces-sity of holding China in check before it is too late are rejected out of hand. The more radical among journalists even objected to the title Viet Cong, which they said was a derogatory title coined by the Americans.

Instead, they adopted the n o m e n c l a ture "National Liberation Front," abbreviated to its French initials FLN - incidentally the same as those of the Algerian rebels against France who, in their day, were also the chief ct of conversation at Swedish dinner parties.

Visit to Hanoi

Some time ago, Mrs. Sarah Lidman, a well-known Swedish novelist, went to North Viet Nam, and there broadcast over Hanoi Radio — in English — to the U.S. forces, urging them to throw down their arms and cease fighting "the Vietnamese people." On her return to Stockholm she made a passionate anti-American statement, which aroused favor among her fellow intellectuals.

In all circles there is now a definite anti-American feeling where Viet Nam is concerned. As an issue, however, it has continued for too long to enjoy the undivided attention of the public, and it has occasionally had to give way to Rhodesia, Portuguese colonial policy in Africa and suppression democratic views in Spain.

Follow Lead

After a few weeks concentration on Viet Nam in the bigger newspapers and magazines, one of the acknowledged journalistic trendsetters will turn to the Portu-guese in Africa. His confreres in the newspaper world will all follow his lead-until the time comes to accompany him back to Viet Nam again.

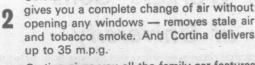

"Of course you know we Swedes aren't all that virtuous" somebody said to me at a dinner party recently, "even although we disapprove of so much that goes on. After all, we boycott South African goods, it is true, but we still eat Portuguese sardines.'

The point of his sentimen was that, word for word, it was expressed in the same way as an article on the subject published in a Stockholm evening paper a day or two previously. One under-stands the cry of that journalist about everyone thinking like everybody else — but their thoughts, of course, are worthy.

The program began with liturgical music effective with its alternating unaccompanied passages, suddenly enriched by stirring notes from three trombones and the organ.

Mr. Palmer is to be congratulated not only on the training of his choir, but also in the choice of music which was never too esoteric for ordinary taste.

Picture, Golden Trowell For Display in Archives

A large portrait of the Queen Mother and the golden trowel she used to lay the Centennial Museum cornerstone will be put on display in the building when it is completed.

Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace today said both were gifts from the Queen Mother.

She gave the autographed picture of herself to the pre-mier during her visit here "and very graciously returned the golden trowel with the thought that we would wish to keep it as a memento of the occasion," Mr. Wallace said.

H. A. Kaul, secretary-manager of the Calgary ex-change, said total volume Mon-day was 1,085,000 shares, the highest volume at Calgary since

"The exchange cannot substantiate or confirm any rumors in connection with Monday's trading," Kaul said. He said he expects heavy trading to con tinue for some days.

B-A officials said Monday they had "nothing to report" on their drilling operation in the Rainbow area, 450 miles north-west of Edmonton.

There is a sale of drilling reservations on Crown land in the Rainbow area April 5, and the Rainbow area April 5, and the usual procedure of oil firms is to withhold any announcement — good or bad — until after these sales.

Leduc-Calmar, which opened Friday at 66 cents, opened Monday at $1.05, traded as high and only a sale of the cents.

Joseph Califano, special assistant to the president, esti-mated that the 200,000 tons covered by President Johnson's new order would be enough for direct defence production in this country for from two to four

Exports Show Solid Jump

OTTAWA (CP) — Exports in December 1965, were up 11.4 per cent from December of 1964 at $795,524,000, the Dominion at $795,524,000, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports.

That put total exports for 1965 at a record $8,522,953,000 com-pared to $8,094,360,000 the previous year, and the former record high.

The bureau said the advance for the full year was primarily due to a gain in volume rather than price. The volume index, based on 1948 equalling 100, rose to 210.2 from 203.3, a rise of 3.4 per cent. The price index, the same base, was up only 1.8 per cent, to 133.1 from 130.7.

Newsprint was the largest single commodity exported in 1965 with a value of $869,586,000. Wheat, the 1964 leader, ranked second at $840,175,000.

Sales to the United States were significantly higher both in December and for the full year. Sales to Britain, Canada's No. 2 market, dropped slightly in both

U.S. purchases for the year reached $4,338,668,000 compared to $4,271,059,000 in 1964. The British took $1,174,359,000 worth of goods in 1965 compared to $1,199,779,000 the year before. Japan bought $316,187,000 worth of Canadian goods, down from $330,324,000 but still foreign markets. Russian pur chases skidded to $197,362,000 from $315,943,000 and retained

If you're a Lawn-Boy owner stand up and take a bow. You're one of the smart ones. Then sit down and relax. Isn't that easier than raking or pushing a heavy old-fashioned mower? Lawn-Boy's grasscatcher does the raking for you. It picks up grass while you cut. It picks up leaves in the fall and tidies your lawn in spring. It collects weeds before they spread over your lawn. To empty, you just snap off the bag and unzip. Lawn-Boy starts easier, too. You use just

Grouse Chairlift Grounded

VANCOUVER (CP) - Pro-vincial authorities revoked the safety certificate of the upper chairlift on Grouse Mountain here following a breakdown Monday in which at least 16 persons were injured.

Many of the 100 skiers and sightseers began jumping off when a gear broke and it began a wild backward ride. Some backward ride. jumped as far as 30 feet into snowdrifts on the 4,000 - foot mountain.

sive hospital treatment for injuries ranging from cuts and bruises to strained backs and suspected broken bones. Seven others were released from hospital with minor injuries.

A number of others, bruises and sprains, did not go to a hospital.

A broken gearbox sent the lift plunging backward at speeds estimated at 35 miles an hour. Don Pratt, operator at the top of the lift, said he pulled both the standard and emergency brakes. But with so much weight the lift would not stop mediately. It finally stopped when the weight was reduced as persons fell or jumped off into the snow.

OPERATOR AFRAID

"I pulled down with my entire 180 pounds but it didn't do any good," said Pratt. "Then I decided to get out of there. I was afraid the bull wheel was going to come down on me."

Robert T. Swanson, chief inspecting engineer for the provincial commercial transport department, revoked the lift's certificate of safety, closing it until further notice. He said certain things must be done before the chairlift can re-

Why not, it says here, ask the players and coaches? If you wanted an expert opinion on the world's best plumber would you ask Lill St. Cyr? (About plumbers, that is.)

However, if Mr. McKenzie insists, there is no alternative.

GOAL-Bob Ring, Boston. Mr. Ring played 34 minutes for the Bruins this season and let in four goals. Some nights when the Bruins perform the score is 4-0 for the other side before the er can find his pencil.

DEFENCE-Kent Douglas, Toronto, and Lee Bolvin, Boston. The Leafs secured Douglas from Eddle Shore in exchange for five players. Hasn't been a deal like it since the Indians sold Manhattan Island for 22 pieces of jewellry from the five-and-dime. Only last winter Punch Imlach, Toronto's noble leader, was asked why he didn't play Douglas more. said Imlach, "every time he's out there a goal is scored. On us."

Bolvin went to Detroit Red Wings this season after years of honest labor with Boston. Nobody scores too many goals for Boston and Boivin has carried the habit to Detroit. In 57 games he had scored zero (O) goals,

PARENTEAU IMPROVING

The Leafs returned from their six-game tour of the American League at 3 o'clock this morning, encountering travel difficulties out of Montreal.

Leafs lost their last five games but Mario said one bright spot during the tour was the improved play of rookie centre Dave Parenteau.
Parenteau scored one goal-

his fourth of the season-and set up two others during the eastern trip.

"Dave got a chance to get plenty of ice time," said Mario, "and he came along very well." Mario also said that winger Gordie Redahl, who missed the last two games in the east because of illness in his family, is expected back in the lineup.

Since plays are to be seen, not outlined, I can tell you only of Mr. O'Neill's three acts that they are very funny, slightly wistful, a touch scandalous, and completely entertaining. The show's a rocket, and I hope you get to see it.

- Stone in This Shop Is Found in Victoria

By Penny Saver

It's here! It's spring at last. Soon the bulk of Victoria's tourists will flock in. Already, there have been many out-of-towners, enjoying our warm winter, which is warm compared to some provinces. Many visitors have asked me already to suggest some little item that is typically "Victorian" to take back home. There are many things that are made right here in Victoria that are ideal memoirs. Others are more or less products of Victoria. Perhaps the latter can be considered typically Victorian.

What I have in mind particularly are key chains and jewelry made of dallacite, a stone found on Dallas Road, and Oak Bay beaches. These are real novelties, and to the tourist, very reminis-

t of Victoria. The stones themselves are polished, and set in the authentic gold chains and bands. Key chains sell for $1, and neckpieces and bracelets start at $2.25.

British Columbia jade is popular in the jewelry line in this shop. Cut and polished stones are set in a variety of types of jewelry, including earrings, cuff-links, pendants, bracelets, and necklaces. Prices begin at $4.95, and vary according to the size of the stone and the metal setting. This shop specializes in this jade, and a pink-toned stone called rhodolite found on Salt Spring Island. The jewelry is simply fascinating.

I remember the good old days, when studying rocks and minerals was part of the school curriculum. If your children are studying them, it would be a great help to them to see exactly what some of these stones look like. A variety of polished and unpolished stones, including jasper, agate, rhodolite, petrified wood and jade, range in price from 10 cents. Perhaps your youngster would like to arrange a showcase of various stones. It's an easy way to learn to identify the different rocks.

They all have beautiful apartments, lovely things with which to entertain, and many are excel-lent cooks. I am not talking about widows who must watch their pennies. By Pat Dufour

Although the scene in the Legislative Chamber when Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother met the MLAs and their wives has been fully recorded, it seems to me that an even more interest-ing phase has been entirely ignored. This is the waiting period during which we members of the press looked down from the galleries and were treated to a sampling of pre-reception jitters on the political

It was obvious that our provincial leaders and their wives had no immunity to the excitement that caught the imagination of Victorians during the Queen Mother's stay here. Highways Minister Phil Gaglardi was a prime example of this. He nervously kept wiping his head and back of his neck with a snowy

Amateur shutterbugs in the government ranks sneaked into the chamber half an hour before the royal visitor was to appear to capture the scene on film.

Where can you buy a bra that comes in 34 sizes (practically custom fit) and has Cordtex* inserts for lasting uplift, at such a low, low price? No wonder it's Canada's most popular bra! Tailored of white broadcloth with breathing waist, elasticized straps and back, with two adjustments. 28-34AAA, 30-36AA, 30-38A, 30-42B, 32-44C & D. Bandeau, #1321, white, $2.00.

Where can you buy a bra with stretch straps and Cordtex* inserts at anywhere near Gothic's price? And these stretch straps continue down and over the bust for complete freedom of movement, have velvety shoulder pads that prevent curling and adjustable slides. Lovely embroidered fine cotton with the new, easy to adjust Elfinlock* on the straps, 30-36A, 32-38B, 32-40C & D. Bandeau, #1305, white. $3.00.

Two reasons why WOTHIC is Canada's first choice!

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

CHANNEL CHIT CHAT: British actor Robert Morley has been signed to play a guest villain, King Tut, on a Batman episode . . . Peter, Paul and Mary, the popular folk singers who seem to have disappeared from the scene, will play enemy agents on NBC-TV's "I Spy" and "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." next

Twenty-eight old "Blondie" motion pictures, starring Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake, have been released to television . . . ABC-TV's new series, Men Against Evil, will star Howard Duff (one-time radio's Sam Spade), film star Jeanne Crain, Lew-Gallow (formerly of 12 o'Clock High) and Ben Alexander (Jack Webb's partner on the old Dragnet series).

Stephen

Joan Hackett, now appearing in the movie, "The Group," stars in the April 8 premiere of ABC-TV's new one-hour series, Court Martial, which deals from week to week with two army officer-layyers attached to the judge advocate-general's department in Europe in the Second World War. The series has been run in Canada

The rerun of Frank Sinatra's one - man NBC-TV musical of Nov. 24 has been set for May 15, instead of May 22, as originally announced . "Branded," with Chuck Connors, which has been cancelled by NBC. TV after this season, may turn up on ABC-TV's fall

An hour-long special, "The Life of Christ," is being prepared by NBC. A network program unit in the Middle East and Europe will produce portions of the show which is skedded for 1967 Paul Petersen, one-time regular youngster on the Donna Reed Show, will portray an Indian in several episodes of F Troop.

Dale Robertson, former hero of the Wells Fargo TV series, is reported on the ABC-TV schedule with a new one-hour western series starting next season ABC's projected series of weekly specials next season, called Stage '66, will include an original suspense drama by John LeCarre, who wrote the best-selling "The Spy Who Came In From the Cold."

Ken Berry, the excellent captain comedian of F Troop, and his wife, singer Jackie Joseph, have opened an antique shop in North Hollywood and their first merchandise is the oversupply of antiques from their own home. Name of the shop is "It's the Berry's."

DEAR C. G.: Exceptions to the contrary, the Chihuahua is the world's smallest dog.

* * * DEAR DR. MILLER: Early in the winter, I rescued a pigeon. He has become pretty pettable. I call him Eagle because he's bald but that's not what I'm writing about. I think he is getting fat and I wonder how to feed him. I leave food in front of him all the time and that is about when he eats. All the time.

DEAR T. F.: Eagle's eager eating habits are, obviously the problem. Stick to those grains or other foods that are relatively low in fat, and feed him only what he can consume during ten-minute meals.

DEAR DR. MILLER: My brother's catfish looks very sad. Is this how catfish are?

DEAR G. M.: Usually. But catfish don't feel sad. It is only when they act that way (sluggish and with droopy fins) that you need to worry.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I am an 11-year-old girl in a family of our. We have lots of pets but have had our cat the longest. I am very fond of him. Z Jerry (the cat) is eating but lately he has been sneezing continuously for three days. Could he possibly have the flu?

-A.O.

DEAR A.O.: Jerry isn't a likely candidate for flu, human type, but he definitely could have picked up a virus, The most common symptoms of feline pneumonitis are sneezing, plus running eyes and nose. Pneumonitis in cats is similar to human flu in that it is most dangerous to young cats, or older, debilitated models. Any cat with a respiratory problem should be protected from chilling. As long as Jerry is eating, he will probably come along all right, but it would still be safest to have him checked by the doctor. Sneezing and related symptoms may, of course, be caused by diseases E other than pneumonitis. N

Anglican In Rome

Dr. Michael Ramsey arrived by plane on the first official visit by a head of the Anglican Church to the Vatican since the schism of 1534.

The archbishop and the Pope will discuss Christian unity in a meeting Wednesday at the Vatican and on the following day will pray together and exchange an embrace of peace.

Dr. Ramsey said he came to Rome "happy and cheerful and full of hope."

The London demonstratorsfour elergymen and a Belfast city councillor — boarded the plane in London with the archbishop to carry their protest to Rome. They had led a demonstration against the visit outside the archbishop's Lambeth Palace last Friday.

CHEERED ON ARRIVAL Applause and cheers greeted TUESDAY

Dr. Ramsey as he arrived in the spring warmth and sunshine at Rome's Fiumicino Airport. Pope Paul sent two envoys to greet him—Archbishop Angelo Dell'Acqua, substitute Vatican secretary of state, and Bishop Jan J. Willebrands, secretary of Vatican's secretariat for anybody else's say-so, either. The other night I sat through a rehearsal, and came away mightily pleased with play, cast and author.

That last, I'd sooner not have to admit, since playwright Patrick O'Neill works on a Victoria morning daily the name of which eludes me at the moment.

But he has done a bang-up job, and one which should heal any bruises Bastion play-ers may retain from the luckless play I mentioned at the Bastion director Peter Mannering wears no mourning for Gambit.

Instead, during a brief break between afternoon toil and evening rehearsal of 'Three Parts Benedict,' Mr. Mannering suggested that local audiences must be edueated to the point where, as big-city folk do, they will accept plays in a variety of moulds.

(There, I think he's right. We are, after all, only a very few years removed from the time when Victoria live theatre was an ordeal to be endured only when all escape routes were blocked.)

While we talked, one or another of Benedict's prevailingly young cast scurried up from below. Off-stage, most of these actors hold other jobs. A couple were delayed, but would arrive in time for their appearances.

he wanted, but permitted an actor to vary a bit of business, and approved the effect.

It was all hard, grinding work, but out of it emerged a comedy which, polished to a high shine, should delight Victoria audiences. Since plays are to be seen, not outlined, I can tell you only of Mr. O'Neill's three acts that they are very funny, slightly wistful, a touch scandalous, and completely entertaining.

The show's a rocket, and I hope you get to see it.

Swimming's great, especially when you're only two and a half years old and can already keep yourself afloat.

For Teddy Cook, 3231 Wascana, it's an especially big treat. He'd rather be in the water than out, not surprisingly as his first strokes came not too long after his first steps.

Standing at pool's edge (above) Teddy gets encouragement from his mother before plunging in to show his style. He grins toothily, as if saying: "Look, I can swim like a duchk!" — whoops, no duck ever did a dive like that.

But instructor Don Burgess isn't critical. Any two-and-a-half-year-old who can perform like this has a great water future ahead of him, he feels. In the last picture Teddy takes a rest, treading

Who says you can't buy a 4 door sports car?

Count 'em!

You found four doors, right? Two lead into the bucket seats in front and the other two give easy access to the back. A nice, cosy way for four adults to travel. Five in a pinch. You think that makes our Sunbeam a Sedan? Well it gives all the comforts of a Sedan-you can even buy it with American Automatic transmission, and you can pack all sorts of luggage in the family-sized trunk. But that lusty 69.5 h.p. engine pushes you up to 60 in only 16.5 seconds. Smoothly and quietly. And the standard 4 speed floor mounted transmission adds a bit of sports car flair. Front disc brakes, self-adjusting clutch, padded dash and visors, good gas mileage, a heater-defroster that really pours it out and a 5 year/50,000 mile power train warranty on engine and drive train parts. You couldn't ask for much more in a sporty sedan that sells for around $2100°. Perhaps we should have gone all the way and called our Sunbeam '1725' Sedan a sports car. But whoever heard of a 4 door sports car?

Stone in This Shop Is Found in Victoria

By Penny Saver

It's here! It's spring at last. Soon the bulk of Victoria's tourists will flock in. Already, there have been many out-oftowners, enjoying our warm winter, which is warm compared to some provinces. Many visitors have asked me already to suggest some little item that is typically "Victorian" to take back home. There are many things that are made right here in Victoria that are ideal memoirs. Others are more or less products of Victoria. Perhaps the latter can be considered typically Victorian.

What I have in mind particularly are key chains and jewelry made of dallacite, a stone found on Dallas Road, and Oak Bay . These are real novelties, and to the tourist, very reminis cent of Victoria.

The stones themselves are polished, and set in the authentic gold chains and bands. Key chains sell for $1, and neckpieces and bracelets start at $2.25.

British Columbia jade is popular in the jewelry line in this shop. Cut and polished stones are set in a variety of types of jewelry, including earrings, cuff-links, pendants, bracelets, and necklaces. Prices begin at $4.95, and vary according to the size of the stone and the metal setting. This shop specializes in this jade, and a pink-toned stone called rhodolite found on Salt Spring Island. The jewelry is simply fascinating.

I remember the good old days, when studying rocks and minerals was part of the school curriculum. If your children are studying them, it would be a great help to them to see exactly what some of these stones look like. A variety of polished and unpolished stones, including jasper, agate, rhodolite, petrified wood and jade, range in price from 10 cents. Perhaps your youngster would like to arrange a showcase of various stones. It's an easy way to learn to identify the different rocks.

These accomplishments may not seem unusual until you know that Mrs. Egerton has been blind since birth. She is evidence of her conviction that a blind person with proper training can be as good a secretary as one with normal vision.

Of course, she doesn't take dictation with pencil and paper as secretaries do. Instead, she uses a special braille shorthand slate,

Properly Placed Darts

Solve Fitting Problem Dear Eunice Farmer You have told us over and the same,

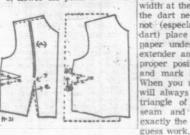

You have told us over and over to watch the position of the bust line darts but you have never told us the correct way to lower them. Since this in my greatest fitting problem, please show us how to to do it.

4. If the dart under the bust must be lowered, the underarm dart must be lowered exactly the same amount. Re-mark each dot of the side dart by greatest fitting problem, please show us how to to do it.

Suzy Perette has created this two-piece dress. The blouse is criss-crossed in front with slot seams, while back interest is added to the diagonal—easier than it sounds show us how to to do it. Mrs. A. A.

The correct position of the bust line darts is most important not only for appearance but also for comfort. The point of the dart directly under the bust should not come above the tip of the bust; it usually should end about an inch below. If the bust the bust; it usually should end about an inch below. DEAR ABBY: When I invite five or six widowed friends to my home for a lovely dinner and an evening of cards their gratitude is overwhelming. Several have commented that it has been "years" since they have used their nice china and silver. That set me to wondering. Why do so many widows fall into a lazy do-nothing rut and tell themselves, "I have no one to set a lovely table and cook for." They could do it for each other, couldn't they? They all have beautiful apartments lovely things with which to entertain, and many are excelabout widows who must watch their pennies. I mean those who have money for travel and clothes. I don't mean to sound unkind, Abby, but perhaps some lonely widows would be less lonely if they entertained a little instead of waiting for someone to entertain THEM.

A WOMAN'S VIEWPOINT

By Pat Dufour

Although the scene in the Legislative Chamber when Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother met the MLAs and their wives has been fully recorded, it seems to me that an even more interest ing phase has been entirely ignored. This is the waitperiod during which we members of the press looked down from the galleries and were treated to a sampling of pre-reception jitters on the political

It was obvious that our provincial leaders and their wives had no immunity to the excitement that caught the imagination during the Queen Mother's stay here. Highways Minister Phil Gaglardi was a prime example of this. He ner-vously kept wiping his head and back of his neck with a snowy white handkerchief.

Amateur shutterbugs in the government ranks sneaked into the chamber half an hour before the royal visitor was to appear to capture the scene on film.

Capture the Moment

MLA John Tisdalle was one of the most eager. Having taken pictures of the flowers that turned the chamber into a blue-carpeted garden, he left, returning with Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, Mrs. Chant and his wife. Grouping them around the Speaker's chair, in which the Queen Mother was to sit for a few brief seconds before meeting the assembly, he smiled broadly and snapped the shutter again.

CURTIS-FOR-MLA PROPOSAL PROTESTS ELECTORAL BILL

Saanich Reeve High Curtis was seriously suggested Monday night as an independent municipal candidate in the next provincial election.

The suggestion at the council meeting came from Coun. Leslie Passmore who wanted "someone to run in this area who is for Saanich." The reeve didn't comment at the meeting and was no commital when approached later by reporters.

The subject came up as

Saanich threw more criticism at the provincial government over the Angus redistribution commission, under which great sections of the municipality will into Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt provincial constitu-

A letter of protest to Premier Bennett drew a brief reply that the changes were recommended by the commission and "thank you for writing on this matter."
"Why single out Saanich," retorted Coun. Digby Kier, noting the government changed the commission's recommendaions in the far north and in the
